<td>Routine Maintenance</td>
<td>Routine Maintenance is maintenance and repair of existing equipment and facilities. Examples include: burned out or flickering lights, clogged sink drains, leaky faucets or other leaks, blown fuses, failed outlets or tripped breakers, repair of door handles, locks, etc.</td>
<td>Jason Alferness</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Building Alterations</td>
<td>Building Alterations are MODIFICATIONS to existing facilities to accommodate a particular unit's laboratory, office or other needs. Building alterations are chargeable work and must be paid for by the requesting unit or research group. Examples include: New electrical power or cooling water for new laboratory research equipment. Modifications of an instructional space to accommodate a newly offered course.</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Custodial Needs</td>
<td>Cleaning restrooms, public spaces, emptying garbage and public recycling, dust mopping, waxing floors, cleaning chalkboards in Classroom Support Services Classrooms.</td>
<td>Jason Alferness</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emergency Custodial or Maintenance Needs</td>
<td>EMERGENCY MAINTENANCE is after hours maintenance that CANNOT WAIT FOR THE FOLLOWING DAY for resolution. EMERGENCY MAINTENANCE is typically a building related maintenance need that is or if unaddressed could lead to a situation that is a danger to university property or could, if unaddressed, lead to a health or safety hazard. EMERGENCY MAINTENANCE is dispatched by University of Washington Police Dispatchers. If you encounter an EMERGENCY MAINTENANCE situation, call 206-685-1411 to have a Facilities Operations Maintenance Specialist (FOMS) respond as soon as possible after hours. Examples include: Persons not in immediate danger but trapped in a non-functioning elevator, evidence of flooding interior spaces of a building, burning smells.</td>

Surplus Items, Garbage and Recycling

- Cardboard, Paper - Large quantities of cardboard or paper recycling can be recycled at the designated dumpsters located in the Physics Astronomy Loading Dock.
- E-Media Recycling/Waste - An e-media collection point for small batteries, floppy/CD/DVD is located on the 2nd floor of Physics between the B-Wing and Tower wings.
- Surplus: (Non-Hazardous, Non-inventoried) - (eg. broken chairs, office equipment, non-inventoried, non-hazardous electronics) Can be placed in the designated surplus area of the loading dock
- Chemicals or Chemically, Biologically, or radioisotope contaminated equipment or other potentially hazardous equipment - Must be retained by the lab responsible for their generation until they can be picked up by EH&S or cleaned and certified as clean and safe at which point they can be safely surplused. See EH&S's website for details
